

Laboratory Supply Distributors Corp. Unveils New Product Catalog

MILLVILLE, N.J., Feb. 25, 2013 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Laboratory Supply Distributors Corp., a provider of diverse products for the chromatography, biotechnology, pharmaceutical and environmental industries, this week announced the launch of its 2013 catalog. It showcases many new products for the life science and biotechnology markets.

This new, 184-page catalog is filled with laboratory consumable products and instruments. It contains more than 2,700 products that are used in laboratories around the world such as pharmaceutical vials and microplates.

“We are excited about this new product catalog because in addition to 68 pages of new products, it also offers our most comprehensive list of chromatography products to date,” Cliff Hitchner, vice president of Laboratory Supply Distributors Corp., says.

Among the new products featured in Laboratory Supply Distributors’ latest catalog are: cell culture products; PCR consumable products; storage plates and reservoirs; gloves and disposable coverings; laboratory bench top equipment; and much more.

“Our products deliver reliable performance while expediting and simplifying the analysis process,” Hitchner says. “Our mission is to provide our customers with practical tools that can expand their capabilities, increase lab efficiency and reduce cost. The bottom line is to make our customers’ jobs easier.”

The new catalog is available to download online in a page-flip or PDF format at: www.mylabcatalog.com.

A convenient “search” box on the website: www.lsdcorp.com makes it easy for existing and potential customers to search for products by keyword or part number.
