

Lee Moses Extracts Mystery from the Ordinary – Art Photography via Film

RANDBURG, Calif., June 22, 2015 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – The Randsburg Art Gallery is extremely proud to announce the opening of the Lehman Moses Photographic Exhibit “Through My Lens” on June 27 and 28 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Originally from Philadelphia, Pa., Lee has taken the art of photography to the highest of professional levels. Using medium format film cameras, Lee owns the entire creative process for his most impressive work.

Lee develops his own black and white film, digitizes the negatives into multiple layers and then works his magic to create almost three-dimensional imagery. But he doesn’t stop there; he also prints his work on a large format professional printer.

Lee, a resident of Victorville, Calif., likes to travel the breath and width of the Southern California desert in search of subjects for his art.

In his own words Lee says “I like to extract mystery from the ordinary.”

Recently at the African American Museum, PhilaFilm Annual Independent Film festival in Philadelphia, Lee closed the festival with his “Though My Lens” YouTube video with rave reviews.

The Randsburg Art Gallery will also be conducting a fundraising event for the Wounded Warrior Project July 4 and 5, 2015. A $20 at the door donation is appreciated. Lee has graciously donated several pieces towards this effort.

Lee’s exhibit “Through My Lens” will be showing continuously for the next three months. The Randsburg Art Gallery is a not-for-profit business; all artists receive 100 percent of all sales. The Randsburg Art Gallery is owned and operated by Randall Hoot Smith, established artist, writer, poet and decorated combat veteran. The gallery is located at: 142-A Butte Ave, Randsburg, CA 93554.
