FormFree's flagship AccountChek service lets borrowers demonstrate their ability to repay mortgage loans without tracking down bank statements or other asset documents. The secure process results in a smoother borrower experience that greatly reduces loan processing and underwriting time and reduces the total time required to close a loan.

FormFree was the first asset verification provider approved to participate in Fannie Mae's Day 1 Certainty™ initiative. Since the introduction of Day 1 Certainty in 2016, more than 1,000 lenders have placed over 1.25 million orders for AccountChek, which automates asset analysis and provides standardized delivery of asset verification to lenders and their investors using a secure ReIssueKey™.

“AccountChek provides an ultra-secure and convenient way for borrowers to submit asset and deposit data using any smart device – and now, through our integration with LendingQB, the experience is just as secure and convenient for the loan officer or processor initiating the AccountChek process,” said FormFree Founder and CEO Brent Chandler.

LendingQB is an award-winning LOS that received top industry marks for end-user experience in STRATMOR Group’s December 2017 LOS Technology Insights report.

“LendingQB’s verifications dashboard gives lenders efficient access to the Day 1 Certainty services they know and trust, like AccountChek by FormFree,” said LendingQB President Tim Nguyen. “By reducing the time and effort required to enable, order and track these services, we are further enhancing the value they already bring to our customers.”
