Thanks to Miami Mold Specialists, thousands of home owners and business owners alike across South Florida now have mold free and healthy indoor living environments. With all of the hype over living healthy, it is still a wonder as to why many people don't even think about the quality of the air inside of their homes. Taking into consideration that indoor air is typically more polluted than outside air, one would think that more people would be paying attention to indoor air quality and toxic mold within a home or building.

This is where Miami Mold Specialists fits into the picture. After almost thirty years of working in the greater NYC area as a complete indoor environmental services company, the owners of Miami Mold Specialists decided to relocate to Miami to start their next business venture.

Since relocating to the greater Miami area, Miami Mold Specialists has been heavily investing in the latest cutting edge in indoor air quality and mold removal equipment, such as: Real-time monitoring Wi-Fi integrated equipment, infrared aerial drone inspection equipment, advanced robotics outfitted with high tech cameras, state of the art electrostatic spraying systems, solar powered mold prevention systems, state of the art hydroxyl generators and air scrubbers, air pollution monitors, real time water monitoring systems, solar powered water treatment systems, cutting edge radon and radiation detection and testing equipment, specialized UV mold detection lighting, non-invasive water detection systems, infrared mold and moisture detection systems, mobile lab testing units, and much more.
