Only 4 percent of real estate companies are owned by women or minorities, and women represent just over one-third of the commercial real estate industry, according to the Commercial Real Estate Women (CREW) Network, highlighting the need for customized accelerator programs in real estate.

The 12-week course, which begins on September 19th, will cover a wide range of topics applicable to the field of residential and commercial real estate, from developing a professional mindset to Fair Housing Laws to marketing to property management and leasing. Upon completion of the course, students may be eligible for an apprenticeship at American Landmark, or to receive a scholarship to cover the cost of completing a Florida real estate licensing class.

Eligible applicants must be a minority female over the age of 18; based in or near the Tampa, Florida market or willing to travel for the two days of in-person classes in Tampa on September 26 and October 24; looking to pursue a successful career in either residential or commercial real estate; and willing and able to commit 3 to 5 hours per week.

Complete the application by the deadline of August 15, 2022:

The fall 2021 program graduated a dozen women who received college-level business training, access to real estate licensing, training in property management and Fair Housing laws, access to mentors and business networks, and more,

“As the housing market continues to explode from coast to coast, there is incredible opportunity for more diverse voices, entrepreneurs and interests in the real estate industry, and we are incredibly proud to contribute to this growth,” said program founder Dr. Velma Trayham. “Our graduates are changing this industry from the inside out, one transaction at a time.”

“American Landmark is honored to continue our partnership with the Millionaire Mastermind Academy to open doors for more minority women in the real estate industry, and promote the values of diversity, leadership and entrepreneurialism that our company is founded on,” said Joe Lubeck, CEO of American Landmark.

The Millionaire Mastermind Real Estate Accelerator Program is accepting public and private partnership to push diversity and minority business development forward. Scholarships are also available at:
