Here's our tips to customize our cabinet solutions to fit any space:

1. Measure the Space

Create a master plan for storage by measuring the space first. Budgets can be tight after the holidays, but there are still many affordable options from Moduline Cabinets to organize a garage space. Once dimensions of the space are known, then call our expert cabinet designers to create the perfect storage solution with our modular garage cabinets.

We ask questions that many customers haven't thought about before calling our experts. We can also create a detailed drawing to see how the space will look with the layout. Our estimates will be within budget and provide a custom cabinet storage solution.

2. Consider Goals for the Space

The space is a determining factor in the layout of Moduline Cabinets in the garage or workshop, but goals are also an important consideration. Moduline Cabinets has a variety of cabinet types, sizes and layouts available to fit the goals for the space. Consider, for example, if the space needs to be functional for car maintenance. Moduline Cabinets has movable military-grade aluminum mobile tool boxes that can be stationed nearby while working on a vehicle.

If the purpose is also to organize and store car parts, other household items and tools, then there are specific cabinets and accessories built to fit in any space. Moduline Cabinets also manufactures tall cabinets that are efficient for storing brooms, vacuums, and other tall tools or household items. Call our cabinet experts with details on how the space will be used. Our technical designers can create a layout to fit goals for the space.

3. Choose Custom Cabinets or a Pre-Configured Combination

Our clients either know exactly what they want or haven't a clue how to get started organizing their garage or workshop. We've made it simple. We offer base cabinet pre-configured combinations that can be easily ordered online for those who know what they want. It's also easy to get started with a custom aluminum storage cabinet combination by calling our cabinet experts for the most effective and efficient workspace.

Moduline Cabinets' cabinet experts provide designs and suggestions. We also stand behind our products with a lifetime guarantee. Our cabinets are manufactured in the USA from durable high alloy aluminum. They are built to last, and they will provide years of functionality and quality.
