The October topic will be “Why Forward-thinking Nonprofits are Automating Expense Management” followed by “Trends in Grant Management Tracking and Reporting” in November. A complete listing of Nonprofit Executive Series presentations and registration information can be found at <http://xanegy.com/calendar/>.

The Nonprofit Executive Series takes a pragmatic look at the internal operational challenges nonprofit leaders face as they strive to fulfill their mission and serve their constituents and community.

“Our first webcast, ‘Trends in Human Capital Management’ begins with issues around building and retaining a strong team,” says Xanegy President Bob

Blake. "Every nonprofit is being disrupted. The workforce is undergoing radical changes with the need to manage a team comprised of millennials to baby boomers. Since teams are lean and time is finite, we will show how to leverage technology to increase employee engagement, as well as provide insights on attracting and retaining key talent."

The fall and winter presentations in the Nonprofit Executive Series include:

Sep 26 – Trends in Human Capital Management

Oct 24 – Why Forward-thinking Nonprofits are Automating Expense Management

Nov 21 – Trends in Grant Management Tracking and Reporting

Dec 19 – 3 Essentials You Cannot Live Without: Budget Tracking, Transparency, and Regulatory Reporting

Jan 23 – Engaging Employees with Real-Time Data-at-a-Glance: Reporting and Dashboards

Feb 27 – Nonprofit Software Selection Journey

Mar 23 – Engaging Your IT Director: Cloud 101.

Xanegy assists nonprofit organizations with the purchase and implementation of cloud-based Sage Intacct. "Technology has never been more comprehensive, easy-to-use, and affordable for the nonprofit sector," explains Blake. "Savvy Nonprofit leaders understand the importance of sound financials when it comes to attracting new sources of funding. When a financial management system is easy to use, program managers can operate programs at an optimal level."
