For the second year, Sunpro Solar partnered with Mercedes-Benz of Covington to purchase the AMG GLE-53 SUVs and CLA-250 Sedans for the recipients. Award recipients also received all-expenses paid trips to the Caribbean.

“It truly was a memorable and exhilarating experience celebrating the Sunpro Solar team’s success,” said Laurie McCants, Operating Partner at the Covington Mercedes-Benz dealership.

Slidell native, and Founder and CEO Marc Jones, started Sunpro Solar with a vision to establish a company built on integrity, exceptional customer service and a commitment to making a difference in communities. Originally founded in Louisiana, Sunpro Solar has expanded to 18 states under his leadership and is the fifth largest residential solar company in the U.S. In 2019, Marc was named Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the Year.

“I am honored to work beside such incredible people here on the Northshore and across the nation,” said CEO Marc Jones. “Our success comes from our commitment to our customers, our commitment to each other and our desire to be the best in the industry. Building a company that gives back to the communities in which we serve is our greatest achievement.”

As one of the largest employers in St. Tammany Parish, the company employs over 500 people locally, and 2500 employees across the U.S. With headquarters in Covington and Mandeville, local employees support its 24 regional operations offices in 18 states. Within the Northshore offices, a range of corporate employees work in departments such as Accounting, Employee Relations, Marketing, IT, Inside Sales, and Quality Control.
