Send2Press® Newswire

“We are so pleased to promote the Promontory MortgagePath solution to banks in Oregon,” said OBA President and CEO Linda Navarro. “Offering home loans is a challenge for many community banks given costs and compliance requirements. Our partnership with such a reputable partner will shed light on a solution that enhances what a community bank can offer to customers – a modern and efficient mortgage experience.”

Promontory MortgagePath was founded with a commitment to empowering community financial institutions to participate profitably in mortgage lending by offering a faster, simpler and more-inclusive mortgage process. By leveraging Promontory MortgagePath's digital mortgage platform and comprehensive fulfillment services, community banks benefit from increased efficiencies and a scalable business model while offering their customers a modern digital mortgage experience. Promontory MortgagePath's founder and former federal regulator, Gene Ludwig, has been committed to community- and regional banking for decades, focusing his post-government professional career on improving the competitive posture of community banks with an emphasis on compliance.

"Our approach is to deliver an exceptional borrower experience with intuitive technology while expanding the reach of our lending partners in their communities," said Paul Katz, managing director and head of bank relations at Promontory MortgagePath. "Our enhanced mortgage platform and flexible staffing model enables lenders to grow their franchise while reducing costs and offering a full suite of loan products."
