Through the push of a button from a cellular pendant, Push Button Care provides aging in place advisors, a variety of support services, and health & wellness tools to assist older adults and their family caregivers. Push Button Care keeps seniors safe and supported while they age in place by working in conjunction with healthcare plans, physicians, home health agencies and home care companies.

The Power of our Network

Our health and wellness tools empower older adults to take control of their health. Proactively reporting changes in their condition enables our support team to catch things early and alert their care team or provide referral recommendations. When our cellular pendant is activated our support team goes to work. Care coordination or emergency response may be coordinated or other aging in place support may be determined. Scheduling a physician visit, coordinating transportation or finding a caregiver are only a small sample of what the Push Button Care team is standing by to assist with.

“By integrating care providers into our senior centric support model we can keep older adults connected to their ecosystem of providers, automate referrals, and streamline care delivery,” says Mark Godwin CEO of OverSightMD, “proactive support and timely care is what really prevents ER visits and hospitalizations from happening.”
