“Out of the hundreds of presales queries we get every day from SOHOs, we found not all problems required to buy a paid software or even spend a penny,” explained Omer Faiyaz, CEO Remo Software. “In our efforts to help a non-tech person, we came up with a platform where anyone can submit a request for help. Our technical experts will help them resolve their tech problems.”

Currently, Remo Software is focusing on to provide support in areas where their expertise is.

A few of them are:

1. Slow Computer
2. Windows Error
3. File Repair/ Conversion

4. Data Recovery
5. Outlook Annoyances
6. Parental Control
7. IoT Devices.

In a world where software, operating system and technologies are ever changing, troubleshooting any issue requires some level of tech know-how. Remo Software has a proven record of developing advanced, easy-to-use software to fix several tech problems.

Their latest service offering #TechHelpForFree is to serve those who lack time and knowledge to deal with small tech problems. Remo Software agrees that they don't know it all, as the problems could be varied, but being in the PC Tech & IoT business they know how to get to a solution. They believe this service would in-turn help them get new product ideas and increase their own tech strengths.
