SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 2, 2019 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – ReverseVision, the leading provider of technology and training for the Home Equity Conversion Mortgage (HECM) industry, today announced it has been named to HousingWire (HW) Magazine's Tech100™ list of innovative housing technology companies for a fourth time. ReverseVision was previously named a HW Tech100 honoree in 2015, 2017 and 2018.

Send2Press® Newswire

ReverseVision was recognized for its position as the industry's most trusted provider of technology and training for HECM origination and senior lending. ReverseVision's flagship origination system, RV Exchange (RVX), is used by 10 of the top 10 HECM lenders and processes more reverse loans than all other solutions combined.

"As a company, ReverseVision is intently focused on providing our HECM and reverse originating customers with technology that enables them to flourish," said John Button, president and CEO of ReverseVision. "Accelerated by mortgage market conditions, generational lending has moved from a concept to reality. Coupled with the massive growth in proprietary senior lending products we are rapidly spearheading game-changing partnerships, developing new components and implementing APIs that enable reverse lenders to improve performance by connecting with other similar best-of-breed mortgage systems.”

“This year’s Tech100 list is stronger than ever! We leveraged a highly-qualified selection committee to review all nominations and guide the selection process. This extra layer of expertise and practical exposure to selected companies was influential in helping HousingWire recognize the 100 fintech companies that deserve the honor of being named the greatest players in the game,” said HousingWire Editor-in-Chief Jacob Gaffney. “We couldn’t be more proud of the innovators and entrepreneurs behind these organizations and we hope you’ll join us in celebrating their inclusion on the most prestigious list of its kind – the HW Tech100.”

Now in its sixth year, the HW Tech100 awards program recognizes the most innovative technology companies in U.S. real estate, mortgage lending, mortgage servicing and investments.
