Released in January, “You Know Who You Are” is the culmination of a year’s worth of work in and out of the studio – a sultry collection of songs about life, love and loss.

“What was most important to us was to take our time with it and really make sure it was perfect every step of the way,” Chernin explains. “It was about selecting the right people.”

That list of people includes producer John Eugenio and Art Class, mixer Chris Davies, and SNL guitarist Jared Scharff.
