“We formed Sente as a different kind of mortgage company, committed to financial possibility,” said Tom Rhodes, CEO of Sente Mortgage. “In our early days, we could have only dreamed of reaching a milestone like this. We’ve impacted more than 20,000 lives and families, but what’s equally rewarding is that we’ve done it with the highest caliber of service.”

Sente is an industry outlier with thousands of five-star reviews, across platforms, for the company and its branches. Rhodes attributes this level of feedback to Sente’s purpose-driven culture based on core values and a teamwork mindset.

“We’re deliberate in everything we do – from how we approach growth, to how we treat each other internally and the value we provide borrowers,” said Rhodes. “We’re honored and excited to continue supporting our clients in the many years to come.”

The Austin-headquartered independent mortgage company has branches across the south-central region and is actively expanding across the country.
