CoreLogic (NYSE: CLGX) introduced the world's first automated, three-bureau credit reporting solution in 1989 and has been a leader in credit reporting solutions for the mortgage industry for over 50 years. The three-bureau CoreLogic Instant Merge report, the most widely accepted credit reporting solution in the mortgage industry, combines full credit history from all three bureaus into a convenient report with a unified format.

With SimpleNexus, borrowers can complete a loan application, upload documents and view loan status – all from a mobile device. Loan officers receive an alert as soon as a borrower applies, and they can use their own mobile device to move loans forward – including ordering credit reports – even when they are out of the office.

“The modern loan originator should be able to qualify loan applicants from any device using the credit provider they know and trust,” said Kevin Mullins, principal, channel partnerships at CoreLogic. “That’s just what the integration of CoreLogic Instant Merge into SimpleNexus delivers. Now LOs have a cost-effective way to get a clear understanding of applicants’ credit history anytime, anywhere.”
