Mission Creek Park is truly a featured gem in the Mission Bay Parks system. It's the perfect place to experience open spaces and green places, right in downtown San Francisco and on the water's edge of the SF bay. The new SUP program by Adventure Out marks the first collaboration with the City of San Francisco and the Mission Bay Park System to offer high-quality, professional and legitimate outdoor guiding services at the City sanctioned park. Paddlers will be able to launch from the public boat ramp at the park and learn basic skills in the calm waters of Mission Bay, before heading out to McCovey Cove and the nearby San Francisco Giants baseball stadium.

Adventure Out CEO Cliff Hodges explains the importance of these guide-to-government relationships: "Several sectors of the outdoor guiding industry have been operating for decades now on public lands with little or no regulation. While this may have been convenient for independent guides, it has led to a decrease in professionalism and safety standards. Adventure Out has been working with local, state, and federal governments for the past 17 years to clearly define permit standards for all commercial guide services and outdoor professionals in every location that we operate.”
