About TENTENYU:

TENTENYU have operated a ramen shop since 1971. Their ramen shop started as a stall in front of Shugakuin station in Kyoto. This is the beginning of their story. They had been wondering what kind of ramen people are craving to eat. They have made many improvements to their ramen based on customer feedback, and now finally they have reached the GOLDEN Chicken Paitan Ramen.

Today, Ichijoji, the place where they are located, is one of the famous ramen streets in Japan. About 30 ramen shops have come to Ichijoji since they opened a shop in Ichijoji, and this place is now known as a ramen battle street. They have been known as one of the best ramen shops in Ichijoji. After 40 years of operation in Ichijoji, they have decided to go abroad as a challenger. They strive to provide their customers with the best ramen, and they hope people in America enjoy their GOLDEN Chicken Paitan Ramen as much as Japanese people do.
