"We are so excited to have been able to host The John Maxwell Company's leadership workshop," said Natasha Mohan of WorkSocial. "Dr. Maxwell has been a prominent voice on the subject of leadership culture development for many years, and we were thrilled for the opportunity to have them at WorkSocial."

"This workshop also happens to be one of the first to be held in our new training space, and our team was ready to provide those attending the full, next-level WorkSocial experience as they gain tremendous insight on life and leadership from one of the world's most influential people."

Those who attended the "5 Levels of Leadership" workshop learned how to develop a leadership culture that infuses a common leadership language the entire organization can speak and understand, quickly shift the culture from positional and title-driven to relational and influence-driven, and develop a framework for consistently reproducing leaders. For more information on the workshop, visit <http://johnmaxwellcompany.com/>.

Mohan went on to say, “For those who have never attended any John Maxwell leadership workshops, it’s safe to say that they were in for a treat. We love the fact that The John Maxwell Company is driven by the same values and goals as we are – helping entrepreneurs create something more than just a business as they strive to build companies that positively impact both their team and the world around them. For us, there’s nothing more exciting than that.”
