

The Usual Suspects Headline Show at Saint Rocke in Hermosa Beach

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Oct. 7, 2015 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – The Usual Suspects, a progressive rock band with a bluesy soul, is making an appearance at the Saint Rocke in Hermosa Beach, Calif. on October 25. They will also be promoting their debut CD – “Back to Zero.”

“The first track of our debut CD, ‘Triangle Love,’ was written by our blind keyboard player, Steve Campos. Greg Adams, a founding member of Tower of Power, wrote the horn parts along with two other world-renowned horn players who recorded the horns for this song,” Fred Simon, drummer for the Usual Suspects, says.

The Usual Suspects have a high level of musicianship with strong vocals and harmonies and delivers a wide range of musical styles from soul and progressive rock to funk and rhythm and blues. It’s this eclectic mix that makes them appeal to a wide range of audiences.

Band members include: Lisa Margaroli, lead vocalist and frontwoman extraordinaire; Steve Campos, keyboardist, vocalist and songwriter; David Ownby, guitars, vocalist and songwriter; Scott Jehlik, bass, vocalist and songwriter; and Fred Simon, drums and bandleader.

The doors for the show at the Saint Rocke open at 6 p.m. and tickets are $12.

The new CD, “Back to Zero,” is available through all major online retailers, including CD Baby (<http://www.cdbaby.com/cd/theusualsuspects1>), Amazon, etc.
