- Brent Chandler, CEO and founder, FormFree

“It’s easy to see why so many have already signed up to attend #NEXTDC20,” said Faith Schwartz, president of Housing Finance Strategies and co-founder of the NEXTDC series. “With so much on the line this November, executives need experts to break down the election’s implications to housing finance, regulations and the future of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. We’re looking forward to some lively and informative discussions.”

The #NEXTDC series is a joint production of NEXT Mortgage Events and Housing Finance Strategies.

Registration is open at no cost to housing industry professionals at <https://nextmortgagenews.com/nextdc20>.

About NEXT Mortgage Events LLC

In January 2018, NEXT Mortgage Events broke the mortgage industry’s unspoken barriers that have limited women’s access to competitive intel, when it introduced NEXT, the women’s executive mortgage summit. NEXT is an exclusive boutique symposium that takes place over two days. The tech-centric content focuses on competitive intel from and for senior lending executives. Roughly 85-90% of NEXT’s lender attendees hold a title of VP or higher and approximately 85% of attendees are women. NEXT’s flagship events, the #NEXTWINTER and #NEXTSUMMER series are held twice a year, in winter and summer. NEXT also hosts the #NEXTDC series in partnership with Housing Finance Strategies.
