

Tow Atlanta Proudly Announces the Arrival of 'Tarva' the Autobot

ATLANTA, Ga., March 1, 2019 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Tow Atlanta is proud to announce the arrival of TARVA, Tow Atlanta's Recovery Vehicle Autobot-Robot that goes into low clearance parking decks/garages and other tight areas where vehicles may become disabled and physically carries them out. TARVA is only the second robot from EasTract (a French Company) to be operational in the United States.

This equipment makes getting vehicles out of tight areas and low clearance parking decks/garages with cramped space easier and will cut the time and physical effort required to get vehicles out of these areas. Prior to TARVA people had to endure the physical task of pushing the Vehicles out, risking physical injury & property damage.

TARVA specializes in Parking Garages that are between 5 and 7 feet in height and also Vehicles without keys or locked steering columns. It also has a track system to move and a winch, so it can go into muddy area's and pull vehicles out as well as carrying cars from the side and lifting motorcycles off the ground.

TARVA will also eliminate the need for an additional wrecker needed for the newer aluminum alloy frame vehicles which include Audi, BMW/Mini, Mercedes, Porsche, VW and Volvo. Because the TARVA will pick up the vehicle and load both onto the truck and drive away after being strapped down.

Parking Facilities Managers and Property Owners are thrilled with the very low liability risk exposure due to the reduction of RISK due to TARVA operating in a surgical manner with the way it operates and removes the vehicle out of the facility in a surgical manner compared to the bringing-in a full sized wrecker into a compact and tight area of the parking facilities and risking damages to other vehicles with the boom.
