“Automation and improving loan quality continue to be at the top of lenders’ lists of priorities, which has driven demand significantly for TRK’s suite of solutions, especially Insight RDM,” said Teri Sundh, CEO of TRK Connection. “Bringing an experienced technical and support manager like Dave on board enables TRK to deliver outstanding customer service while continuing to expand our footprint in the mortgage marketplace.”

Prior to joining TRK, Pack supported and implemented products for Silicon Valley-based Oracle America and Workday, Inc. He also served as a project manager and account technical manager for several technology firms in the Salt Lake City area.

“Having previously worked with the TRK team, I was familiar with their commitment to delivering innovative, useful technology solutions and was eager to play a role in that effort by supporting the Insight RDM platform,”

Pack said. "Working for Silicon Valley-based, Fortune 500 companies was exciting and educational, but I thrive more in an agile environment. I look forward to applying the lessons learned in my most recent positions to ensure TRK's existing customers are able to maximize the value of Insight RDM."
