The initiative began last fall, and used objective, independent statistical assessment of consumer satisfaction survey data gathered from nearly 2,500 Independent Living, Assisted Living, and Memory Care communities throughout the United States. The rating criteria included analysis of consumer satisfaction data across categories such as community & activity, food & dining, caregiving, and management & staff.

“It’s a great honor to be recognized for excellence on such a grand scale,” said Ann Worley, Executive Director of TerraBella Southport. “This meaningful achievement proves that our community’s design and amenities, care and lifestyle programming, dining and recreation options, and most importantly, our team members, truly stand out in a crowded and competitive industry.”

“Until now, families have had limited information when comparing providers of independent living, assisted living, memory care or continuing care,” said Ben Harder, Managing Editor and Chief of Health Analysis at U.S. News & World Report. “The Best Senior Living ratings fill this informational gap with comprehensive and transparent data to help older consumers and their families identify high-quality senior living communities that meet their needs and preferences.”

TerraBella Southport is operated by Florida-based Discovery Senior Living, which had 34 communities across the country place atop the inaugural Best Senior Living rankings.
