

Utelogy and ProVideo Solutions Announce Partnership

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 9, 2016 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Utelogy, creator of software for control and management of audiovisual systems for business and education, has signed a strategic partnership with Texas-based ProVideo Solutions.

Send2Press® Newswire

Utelogy provides Software-Defined audiovisual (SDAV) technology for control, management, analytics and services for smart classrooms, conference rooms and video-conference rooms. With its open architecture, the Utelogy platform leverages the existing IT infrastructure and can support any AV device with its built-in tool suites for easy provisioning and configuration.

Using the Utelogy platform enables AV and IT departments to build more flexibility into its meeting space for easy reconfiguration and equipment re-use. With its AV-as-a-Service portal, it allows partners to offer help-desk and remote monitoring capabilities to deliver AV managed services.

ProVideo Solutions works with a variety of industries looking for integration of audio visual technology by connecting manufacturers with new markets for support and integration. With offices in Austin, Houston, and Dallas, the company services clients throughout Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Arkansas.

“We are excited to partner with Utelogy because the cloud-based solution developed by Utelogy will give our clients game-changing technology to control and manage AV systems via the cloud,” said ProVideo Solutions President, Eric Cook.

Utelogy and ProVideo Solutions will cohost two open houses at the ProVideo Dallas Demo Center. The first event will be held on Friday, January 27. The ProVideo Demo Center is located at 3410 Midcourt Road #111 in Carrollton, Texas.
