

Utelogy Corporation Continues Its Growth with the Addition of Jimmy Ho as Product Development Vice President

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 5, 2017 (SEND2PRESS NEWSWIRE) – Utelogy, which makes software for control, enterprise management and analytics of audiovisual systems for business and education, announces Giang “Jimmy” Ho joins the company as Vice President, Product Development.

Send2Press® Newswire

Utelogy has seen steady growth in clients, representative firms, and solution partners throughout North America. Increased focus on product development and innovation ensures that Utelogy clients and partners will continue to benefit from Utelogy software solutions.

“Jimmy brings strong leadership and deep experience from start-up organizations to multi-billion dollar enterprises. His work ethic and discipline will contribute to our mission of delivering the best AV solutions for business, education, and government,” said Utelogy co-founder and CTO Scott McGarrigle.

Jimmy Ho comes to Utelogy with more than 20 years of experience and a focus in business and IT strategy and optimization. “I enjoy the opportunity to develop and empower development team members to contribute to their full potential,” said Mr. Ho. “My philosophy is that regardless of what you do, be the best at it because you can never lose. We either win or learn a valuable lesson.”

At age 23, Ho was the Director of Operations for Orion Hanel, then the largest foreign company in Vietnam. After migrating to America in the 1990s, he co-founded businesses in the service industry, joined a start-up in information security, then served as a Senior IT resource for a very large financial services organization in Orange County, Calif.

In addition to undergraduate studies in economics and information technology, Jimmy holds an MA in Leadership from Albertus Magnus College in New Haven, Conn. and a post-master from Cornell University, School of Industrial and Labor Relations (ILR), New York.

About Utelogy Corporation:

Utelogy Corporation publishes an enterprise technology control and management platform for higher education, corporations and emergency response centers. Utelogy is a flexible, scalable software solution for control, management, and analytics of AV systems that puts the power in the hands of the user. For more information, visit <http://www.utelogy.com/>.

*PHOTO for media: Send2Press.com/wire/images/17-0605s2p-jimmy-ho-300dpi.jpg