Procore is an all-in-one construction software solution that connects applications, devices, and users on one central platform. As part of this certification, ZenTek Consultants is able to offer expert services that enable construction firms to be more effective and efficient with Procore software, including administration, pre-construction, project management and resource management.

“Achieving Procore Certified Consultant status is a really important step for us. It shows the industry that ZenTek is a formally recognized Procore partner, with the ability to configure, customize, and optimize our clients’

Procore systems so they can get the ROI they really want from this industry leading technology,” explains James Coppinger, Principal at ZenTek Consultants.

“ZenTek brings years of technical experience helping construction firms leverage the technology they already own as well as identify what’s next,” said Steve Jones, Procore Certified Consultant Program Manager. “We are excited to welcome them into the Procore Certified Consultant program and to have them assist our customers in achieving their technology goals. “Procore software allows firms to connect their entire business process from bidding to closeout with every member of the team working together in the same system.”
